

General meeting

Amsterdam, 7 March 2016

Location: NH Grand Hotel KrasnapolskyTime: 17:00 – 18:30 hoursChairman: Claes Hedenström17:00 Opening*17:10 Developments *Standards Consumer Claims

After purchasing renewable energy the consumer would like to claim the benefits of this and we have seen international standards developing to provide clarity on these claims. The Greenhouse Protocol is one of the most well known standards, streamlining scope 2 carbon footprints, RE100 is another example but mainly focused on large corporates. What have been the result of these consumer claim standards in 2015? We will review the past year and see what changes have been seen in the market/market players as a result of these developing standards.

By Anette Gussiås, Senior Analyst, Bergen Energi

17:30 Annual report RECS International

Highlights and achievements of RECS International from the last year will be presented. This will include a 20-minute introduction on the new (and old) activities of RECS International. Showing the shift in focus from system issues, to disclosure items and finally to the issue of consumer claims.

By Jared Braslawsky, Deputy Secretary-General, RECS International

17:50 Core values of RECS International

Recently RECS International has formulated its 'core values'. What are the main messages RECS International would like to get across in our goal of influencing the policy makers drafting a new RES Directive? The backgrounds and discussions among other stakeholders will be explained.

By Claes Hedenström, President, RECS International

18:10 Future of RECS International

The board and the secretariat wish to discuss the future of RECS International. We will address our future as an organization and the future of the secretariat.

By Claes Hedenström, President, RECS International

18:20 Closing

